

Headlines:

USCG – SIMOPS during LNG bunkering;
NOAA – critical habitat for Atlantic sturgeon;
MARAD – RADM Buzby sworn in as Administrator;
DOJ – USN commander pleads guilty; and
Coast Guard executes convicted murderer – 17 August 1929.

August 17, 2017

Bryant's Maritime News

Bryant's Maritime Consulting - 4845 SW 91st Way - Gainesville, FL 32608-8135 - USA

Tel: 1-352-692-5493 – Email: dennis.l.bryant@gmail.com – Internet: <http://brymar-consulting.com>

Contact me to help you reach your target audience

Note: This newsletter is one section of the Bryant's Maritime Consulting website. Visit the site for more extensive maritime regulatory information. Individual concerns may be addressed by retaining Dennis Bryant directly. Much of the highlighted text in this newsletter constitutes links to Internet sites providing more detailed information. Links on this page may be in PDF format. Comments on these postings are encouraged and may be made by email to the editor or by going to the blog page on the website and clicking the envelope that appears at the end of each posting. Be aware that the daily newsletter is a single posting, even though it contains a number of individual items. 'Getting lucky' means walking into a room and remembering why I'm there.

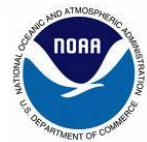

USCG – SIMOPS during LNG bunkering

The USCG Liquefied Gas Carrier National Center of Expertise (LGC NCOE) issued recommendations for analyzing the risks involved in simultaneous operations (SIMOPS) during liquefied natural gas (LNG) bunkering. LGC NCOE Field Notice 01-2017 (8/14/17)

[https://www.uscg.mil/hq/cg5/lgcncoe/docs/BunkerDoc-SIMOPS-LGCNCOE-FieldNotice_01-2017.pdf].

NOAA – critical habitat for Atlantic sturgeon

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) promulgated a final rule designating portions of various rivers along the Atlantic coast as critical habitat for various distinct population segments of Atlantic sturgeon. The rule enters into effect on 18 September. 82 Fed. Reg. 39160

(8/17/17) [<https://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/FR-2017-08-17/pdf/2017-17207.pdf>].

MARAD – RADM Buzby sworn in as Administrator

The Department of Transportation (DOT) issued a news release stating that RADM Mark H. Buzby, USN (ret) has been sworn in as the Administrator of the Maritime Administration (MARAD). (8/16/17) [<https://www.transportation.gov/briefing-room/marado417>].

DOJ – USN commander pleads guilty

The Department of Justice (DOJ) issued a news release stating that an active duty US Navy commander pleaded guilty in federal court to conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with its criminal investigation of a multi-national defense contracting firm. (8/15/17) [<https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/active-duty-us-navy-commander-pleads-guilty-conspiring-foreign-defense-contractor-defraud-us>].

Coast Guard executes convicted murderer – 17 August 1929

James Horace Alderman was a notorious smuggler of alcoholic beverages – a rum runner – during the heyday of the Prohibition Era. He called himself the “King of the Rum Runners” in South Florida. In some ways, he was a miniature Al Capone. To many in the area, he was a folk hero, supplying booze that was withheld by the federal government. He dispensed equal parts of charity, corruption, and violence throughout the Miami-Fort Lauderdale area, while smuggling liquor from the Bahamas to South Florida. On 7 August 1927, the 75-foot Coast Guard patrol boat CG-249, based in Fort Lauderdale, was transporting Secret Service agent Robert Webster to the Bahamas to investigate reports of counterfeit US currency. Half-way across, the patrol boat encountered a speedboat headed the other direction. Boatswain Sydney Sanderlin, the officer in charge of the patrol boat, directed the speedboat to halt. The speedboat, operated by Alderman and with an accomplice onboard, tried to flee. Alderman ignored the first warning shot, but stopped when the patrol boat fired its machine gun. Sanderlin sent one of his crew onboard to check the situation. The crewman quickly found 20 cases of liquor stashed in the engine space. Sanderlin ordered Alderman and his accomplice onto the patrol boat, after checking to ensure that they were unarmed. While Sanderlin went to the bridge to call his headquarters for instructions, Alderman asked a crewman for permission to go back aboard the speedboat to retrieve his jacket; the crewman assented. Alderman retrieved not only his jacket, but also a pistol. When Alderman returned to the patrol boat, he shot Sanderlin in back, killing him instantly. Alderman then grabbed Sanderlin's .45 caliber pistol. Alderman shot and severely wounded a second Coast Guardsman (he died four days later). Alderman ordered the remaining federal officers onto the speedboat and directed his accomplice to get the speedboat underway. When the accomplice experienced engine trouble, Alderman turned to inquire as to the trouble. The unarmed federal officers jumped him. Alderman shot the Secret Service agent, killing him instantly. He shot and wounded another Coast Guardsman, who survived. By then, the federal officers had overwhelmed Alderman. His accomplice gave up without a struggle. After a speedy trial, Alderman was convicted of three counts of murder in the first degree within the special maritime and territorial jurisdiction of the United States and was sentenced to suffer death by hanging. His appeal to the US Supreme Court was denied, as was his request for clemency from President Herbert Hoover. The judge directed that Alderman be executed in the Broward County Jail in Fort Lauderdale. The County Commissioners, concerned about potential fallout from executing a local folk hero and about potential adverse impact on tourism, declined. The judge then ordered that the execution be performed at the nearest federal facility to the jail – which happened be Coast Guard Base 6 in Fort Lauderdale. At 5:00 a.m., on Saturday, 17 August 1929, the US Coast Guard carried out the judge's order, hanging James Horace Alderman from a hastily constructed gallows in the seaplane hangar, two years and ten days after he committed his murders.

Join my mailing list

If you are not receiving my almost daily electronic newsletter and would like to have it sent directly to your email inbox, please send me an email, or see below:

Join Our Mailing List!

If you have questions regarding the above items or are interested in advertising in this newsletter, please contact the editor:

Dennis L. Bryant

Bryant's Maritime Consulting
4845 SW 91st Way
Gainesville, FL 32608-8135

USA

1-352-692-5493

dennis.l.bryant@gmail.com

<http://brymar-consulting.com>

© Dennis L. Bryant – August 2017

 Redistribution permitted with attribution