Newsletter – contributions requested

In an effort to keep the maritime community timely informed as to what the various government agencies are doing for and to us, I have published an electronic blog and newsletter for the past nine years. The email, blog and newsletter are unique in that they almost always provide the reader with direct access to the government document(s) at issue. I have been absorbing the costs of the website, the email distribution system, subscriptions, etc. Those costs have been rising and are expected to continue to rise. It is therefore requested that you, my long-suffering readers, make a modest voluntary contribution to help defray these costs. For those addicted to ecommerce, contributions may be sent to my PayPal account (dennis.l.bryant@gmail.com); otherwise, checks payable to “Bryant’s Maritime Consulting” will be gratefully accepted when sent to the address listed below. Many thanks.
